BARNUM SEES A PRODICY.

BUT OSCAR MOORE WILL NOT JOIN THE CIRCUS Professor Oscar Moore, of Waco, Tex., age three, visited the Murray Hill Hotel yesterday and entertained the whole house, including the bell boys and the chef with an exhibition of the most wonderful memory that ever babe was blessed with. P. T. Barnum, the great showman, was amazed by the prod-igy and expressed deep regret that he could not en-gage the youngster for his circus. He does not be-lieve that it would be humane to subject the child to the strain of repeated performances. In many respects Oscar closely resembles Blind Tom. His singing is tuneful and his articulation is strangely distinct for one so young. He is totally blind, but recognizes old acquaintances instantly by their voices. His father and mother are colored people of average intelligence. PLAYHOUSE NOTES AND INCIDENTS.

The new Irish play, "Myles Aroon," written by George H. Jessop and Horace Townsend, has been produced by W. J. Scanlan at the Fourteenth Street Theatre in a way, that pleases keenly the patrons of that house. Mr. Scanlan is a widely popular Irish comedian, and the many songs which form an impor-tant part of every play in which he appears are so sung by him that he calls out profuse and well-sustained applause. The new play gives him abundant opportunities to show himself at his best, and he is surrounded by a competent company and a large force of extra men and women. The Irish fair scane fills the stage to overflowing with a bustling crowd, and is realistic and effective.

"The Pearl of Pekin" has been doing so well at the Bijou that an effort is to be made to run it five weeks at the Standard, beginning on Monday, January 28. This is certainly an ambitious attempt, and it is poswible that the piece, which is so well adapted to the Bijou that standing-room is in demand nightly, may prove hardly strong enough for so long a stay at the larger house.

Joseph Haworth and Miss Carrie Turner are applanded with great gest in "Paul Kauvar" at Niblo's Garden, where they have added to the popularity which they gained in the original run of this play a the Standard. "Paul Kauvar" gives suitable occasion for extensive scenic display, and at no theatre in which it has been presented before in this city has the stage being so well adapted to this as Niblo's is. So Steele Mackaye's famous guilletine scene and the other dramatic groupings of this powerful work make the strongest possible impression in this spacious theatre. The atmosphere of the place was far more Egyptian than it ever is at Palmer's during the run of "Antony and Cleopatra." As a sop to an insatiable demand, Illustrious Potentate Goodwin delivered a little speech, but, strange to say, it was not in Coptic or Ptolemaic tongue, in Syriac or Chaldee, but in plain, unacerned English. Three hundred employes of Rogers, Peet & Co. had a good time last evening at the Metropolitan Hotel at their fourth annual dinner, given to them by this well-known firm of clothiers. Mr. Chambers was greeted with enthusiasm, and loudly applauded when he spake of the desire of the firm that each employe should have a sense of proprietorality and interest in the business. APHOPOS OF INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT.

Washington Gossip in The Chicago Tribine.

The friends of the Copyright bill, hope to got it up in the House to morrow. One Congressman who is opposed to the measure has an object lesson which may do mere against it than Edward Eggleston, Mark Twain, and the other authors have been able to do for it. He gives the following experience:

"I went into a bookstore to buy a copy of Professor injects 'American Commonwealth.' and asked the price of the book.

"Six dollars,' replied the clerk "Why, that's toa much." I said.

"Can't help it,' the clerk answered; 'it's a two-volume English book and we can't sell it for less."

"I looked at the volumes and told him the binding was no good. They would have to be rebound for my library. He rold me that was the way with most English books. They aiways had to be rebound. Then I said I would wait for an American edition. "You can't get an American edition, he stated." That book's copyrighted, and the only edition which you can buy is the imported two volume one.

"I asked how that was and was told co-Mayor Cow. of Brooklyn, and some other persons had contributed parts of classiers in order to enable the author to get a copyright on this side of the water. Now, if that's a specimen of what a copyright will do I am against it and in favor of the pirate publisher every time."

CASE. The dark allusion of the "Cologne Gazette" to ain documents in the Geffeken case, which the paper said were not published because political and dynastic interests might suffer, refers to letters written by Morier while at Darmstadt, in which Princess Alice and several English royalties are involved. According to the statements current in the official circle, if Prince Bismarch is forced by political exigencies to publish these let-ters, they will prove that Frederick and his wife were indiscreet and divulged the plans of Prussia, and that even before the opening of the campaign of 1870 Darmstadt was the focus of intrigues against the unification of Germany. The documents that are withheld afford ample justification of Bismarch's accusations against Frederick in his report to the present Emperor, but the strength of the public feeling against further scandal has become so extreme that the semi-

BOULANGER ACTIVE AND ENERGETIC. Paris, Jan. 22.—Boulangists are showing great energy all along the line. Boulanger will not have himself to blame if he does not head the poll next sunday. 'Yesterday and the day before the General was called upon by a constant stream of uniformed officers of the territorial army, who had come to to attend the military ball. The scene resembled an army demonstration in favor of the Gen-eral. Royalists are still divided on the question of abstaining from voting. On the other hand, Im-perialists excel in activity for the General. The "National" asserts that the dead father of Campi, was the General's brother, and that the man murdered, who was named Ducrot, was a business partner of Boulanger perc. The squabbles of the eneral's domestic life, his debts and intrigues are also detailed.

that the Government is employing the secret service fund in the interests of M. Jacques. Meanwhile the inactivity of M. Jacques annoyed his supporters, who are scaking even-now another candidate. The betting en the Bourse varies daily. To-day the calculators gave Boulanger 215,000 votes against 170,000, and odds were laid against the Republican candidate. The influence of the members of the municipal council, who are, almost unanimously against Boulanger, is the leading factor in making his success doubtful.

TROUBLES OF PRINCE FERDIANND, Sinister reports that come from Bulgaria keep the Government on the alert for developments. Prince l'erdinand's abdication is a question of days. GLANCES HERE AND THERE.

Frederic Villiers, the war-artist of "The London aphic," who is now in this country, on a lecturing tour, was thrown a great deal into the company of the Russian General Skobeleff during the Russo-Turkish war. The great warrior had selected from the three-score of correspondents a little group of con-genial spirits, among them Villiers and McGahan, and with these favored ones the General entered into relations of intimate friendship. After McGaban's death, General Skobeleff seemed to become still mor stiached to the handsome young artist of "The Graphic," and finally, when peace was declared and the time for farewells strived, Skobeleff was deeply affected. He and Villiers were in headquarters dis cussing the possibility of war between Russis and

"Well, if there is war," said Skobeleff, "I don't want you to go with the British. You come to me and you may be sure you'll be treated well."

"That's all very nice. General," replied Villiers and I have the deepest faith in your friendship Yet, you are a Russian, and a soldier, and—say, General, what would become of me after the British gave you the first licking i "We have many strange customers," declared at

They will select the most inappropriate pieces, and for our own sake we frequently have to interfere Not long ago, an Irish woman came here and wanted a functal piece. I showed her a lot of designs, but her eye caught a 'horse-shoe' frame, and she thought she would like that. Of course that wouldn't do for a funeral, so I tried to scare her off by a big price. She didn't scare worth a cent, though she looked poor enough. Eventually I had to ex-plain, so I said: 'Madam, this horse-shoe is hardly appropriate for a funeral. It means good luck, you know, and, of course, you can't wish the dead good Some persons might be heartless enough to suppose that you wished the family of the dead good-luck on account of the death." " 'Niver ye moind,' she answered. 'Oi'll take it.

are some boys within five minutes' walk of the City Hall who, though born poor, are just as sure to be rich, if they live to middle age, as the sun is to rise to-morrow. One of them sells matches at the foot of the stairs at the elevated station in Park Place. He watches the passengers as they come down the steps and when he sees a man with an unlighted cigar, feeling in all his pockets for a match, he hands him one ready lighted and then offers the rest of the box at the market price. The man who would refuse to buy the box has a heart of stone and a mind incapable of appre-ciating business enterprise.

In spite of some natural regret at seeing a good piece taken from the stage, there is one theatre-poer who has felt a sense of relief and of security from dan-ger with the return of "Nadiy" to the Casino. This poor wretch has been haunted of late as by an ever-present vision. The vision was a substantial one, in the shape of a besseater of the Tower. The vicilm did not object to his presence on the stage in "The Yeomen of the Guard," but when he had seen the opera a few times he felt that he had had enough of him. He then unthinkingly attended a performance of "Twixt exe and Crown," and to his horror again saw the stage filled with besfeaters. He next sought balm for a troubled spirit where he had often found it, a. Daly's. All went well till the afterpiece, "Rehearsing a Tragedy," and then in stalled the inevitable beefeater. Nothing was left for the haunted theatre-goer but to stay closely at home till "The Yeomen of the Guard" should be withdrawn, and with it the last beefeater, so far as he knew, should leave the city.

Sir: My attention having been called to an article in your paper of this date on the subject of the decision of the United States Supreme Court, rendered yesterday, relative to the duration of certain patents, and the possible effect thereof on the companies now engaged in the promotion of the phono graph, by reason of such companies not having ac juired rights under certain of my inventions, I take this opportunity to set the matter straight by say-ing that all my phonograph patents. Including not only those of recent date, but also the fundamental patents which are affected by this decision of the Supreme Court, are covered by the contracts of sale and purchase existing between Mr. Lippincott, myself and the other parties in interest. Mr. Lippincott provided in advance against this very contingency which has now happened by including in his contract of purchase not only my more recent patents and future inventions, but also my earlier and fundamental patents.

GOOD WORK AMONG THE NEGROES. To the Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: In this out-of-the-way country town, in 1881, Professor B. T. Washington opened a school with twenty scholars in a most destitute community of colored people. His school grew till it has developed into a large institution. It numbers now annually an average of four hundred pupils and twenty-four teachers. Its property is valued at 880,000. It has the confidence of the people in the State, and its students are in demand as teachers. Forty-two graduates and seventy-five under-graduates have been sent out and are doing a good work. From the start the school has been in the hands of colored teachers. It is thoroughly Christian, yet undenominational. aim is to educate head, heart and hand. Special attention is given to increasing the industrial capacity of the negro in connection with his mental and moral training. Twelvo industries are taught in the school. Meat of the material used in building is manufactured on the place by the students. The course of study covers a period of four years, in which time any student may not only acquire a good English education, but also learn wheelwrighting, blacksmithing, carpentering, painting, masonry, brick-hishing, printing, farming, cooking, dressmaxing and all the household arts. No. school is doing more for the elevation of the negro. Its great drawback is the need of room and aid for poor students. A great number of young people are turned away every year for the lack of means.

POSSIBILITIES FOR THE SOUTH. To the Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: Now that the agitation of the question of General Harrison's "Southern Policy" has subsided, it seems to me that an appropriate question and on more readily answered might well be asked, viz: What is going to be the "Southern Policy" of influential Northern Republican papers? They wield their powerful influence to cement the good will of all sections and aid in the development of the New South, the great North, the cultivated East and the stirring Immense good could be done by these powerful journals. Great possibilities are before General Har rison and the Republican party for the next fouryears, and if the opportunities are rightly used many converts may be made among the prominent Demoerats of the South. Already many representative Southern magnificturers have declared that the elec-Southern magnifacturers have declared that the election of Georral Harrison will be beneficial instead of injurious to them. The appointing of men of high standing and unblemished character to positions of honor and responsibility would work a revolution in southern pollules hitherto not dreamed of. The negro population is the sole stambling block to the increase of the Republican party at the South. If the educational provision now being urguetly advocated by "The Charleston News and Courier's coes into effect and is adopted by our sister States, the white people could then divide on questions where divisier, now means rain and is absolutely impossible. The cultivated people of the South recognize the fact that the majority of the refined and cultivated people of the North is to be found in the ranks of the Republican party.

THE STREL BEAM TRUST DEMORALIZED. Pittsburg, Jan. 22 (Special).-There are indications hat the steel beam and structural steel pool is on the eve of a split. For some time rates have been dis organized, and it was said that some member or mem-bers of the combination had accepted contracts at rates below those agreed upon. It is said, on good uthority, that Carnegie, Phipps & Co. gave notice of withdrawal from the pool unless the firm which did he cutting was brought to account. The threat iid not have the desired effect, for within a day or two the rates have dropped 15 per cent. Some of the firms accused of rate-cutting were pushed to it by the actions of four or five concerns outside of the pool.

Among the outsiders are the North Chicago Rolling Mill Company, of Chicago; the Columbia Steel Company, of Uniontown, and the Allentown Rolling Milli Company. The firms comprising the combination are Jones & Loughlin, and Carnegie, Phipps & Co., of this city; Cooper, Hewitt & Co., Trenton, N. J.; Passale Rolling Mill Company, Paterson, N. J.; A. P. Roberts & Co., Pen Royd, Pedn.; Phoentx Iron Company, Phoenixville, Penn.; Puttsville Icon and Steel Com pany, Pottsville, Fenn.—seven in all. The break in prices is regarded as a serious one. The product of the mills in the association is estimated at 75,000 tons in 1888, against about 10,000 tons for the outside mills and 5,000 tons imported.

last night that while Colonel Winchester was still confined to his bed, he was not in such a condition as to cause any alarm. The doctor said that he rested comfortably all yesterday, and that the fever had abated. The greatest trouble the physician had to contend with was a severe pain in the head which caused his patient to be somewhat restless, but from which no danger was apprehended.

SENATOR STANFORD'S PRACTICAL SUASION.

Dispatch to The St. Louis Republic.

Day after day he has in the Republican cloak room of the Senato a sample or a number of samples of California fruit product. The sample which was there yesterday differed from that on exhibition to-day. On one occasion it may be a box of Fresno raistins, and the Senators wash in and help themselves to handfuls of the delicious fruit. At another time it will be a basket of Fresno figs, fluer often than any figs the Senators was before. Then it will be Riverside oranges, large and inscious, and the arrival of a box of the great yellow beauties is whispered around the chamber until every Senator who knows the quality of "Stanford's cranges" has buriet his lips in their sweet, jucy pulp. Even the Ferida Senators temporarily forswear their allegiance to the great staple of their State and edpty the California articles. Prunes and grapes are frequently to be found in the cloak-room and even the members of the sub-committee on finance cat thereof and are glad. When everybody has satisfied himself as to the quality of the fruit which happens to be on exhibition them Senator Stanford incidentially remarks that the fruit-raising ladustries of the United States must be protected from competition on even terms with the fruits of foreign lands. The fruit likely is the backbone of his argument.

JOLLY JURORS DINE.

THE SHERIFF'S SECOND PANEL ENJOYS ITSELF.

MEN WHO MADE SPEECHES AND SOME OF THOSE WHO HEARD THEM.

The second panel Sheriff's jury dined with as much wisdom, wit and wine as ever at Delmonteo's last night. Adon Smith, the amiable foreman, attempted o preside for a little, but finally yielded, to use his own words, to the force of circumstances and Judge Brady. Of Judge John R. Brady it must be said that after his assumption of the chairman's duties his tender mercies, like those of the wicked, were cruel; because he rained a shower of glistening puns on the heads of the company. Judge Brady and Adon Smith were accompanied at the table of honor by Judge Noah Davis, General S. L. Woodford, Sheriff James A. Flack, Judge R. B. Martine, Judge H. A. Gildersleeve Judge R. B. Cowing, Judge George M. Van Hoesen, Noah Brooks, R. L. Larremore, Judge A. R. Lawrence, George P. Andrews, H. W. Allen and Joseph F. George P. Androws, H. W. Allen and Joseph P. Daly. Among he others present were Dr. Edward Bradley, Samuel P. Avery, William L. Androws, J. Seaver Page, Congressman A. P. Fitch, W. H. Beadleston, A. N. Beadleston, Moritz Bauer, Colonel Rush C. Hawkins, William S. Booth, H. M. Requa, E. L. Merrifield, E. G. W. Woerz, M. H. Moses, Jacob Hays, Edward Wetmore, John H. Bird, Brent Good, R. J. De Cordova, Jerome Buck, R. V. Harnott, Charles K. Randall, the Rev. E. W. Warren, Bayard Dominick, Maxwell Smith, Adon Smith, Jr., W. W. Meserole, Ira D. Warren, G. Henry Withhaus, Richard C. Selden, D. S. Hammond, H. H. Underhill

The committee in charge of the dinner was com posed of the following members : Adon Smith, Richard R. Hunt, George A. Meyer, Jacob Hays, Charles K. Randall, Jules A. Montant and M. H. Moses. They have reason to congratulate themselves on the suc cess of their efforts. Sheriff Flack modestly responded for "Our Noble Sheriff." A. J. De Cordova gave his example of Italian noefil." A. J. De Cordova gave his example of Italian nobility in distress entitled "Rinaldo Rinaldini." Noah Brooks, with "The Press" to speak for, and Noah Davis with "The Old Fogies of the Bar" to grapple with, entertained each other and the company with mutual assurances of most distinguished consideration. Both of them, infected by the chairman, were smitten with the punning fever, and ex-Judge Davis, indeed, delivered what might be described as a "Braided" speech.

J. S. Auerbach, John H. Bird and General Woodford also contributed to the programme. The "Madrigal Boys" from St. Ignatius's Church sang several part songs in an admirable manney. Altogether, the second panel of the Sheriff's Jury maintained the reputation of its annual dinner, which was well described by ex-Judge Davis when he said, "It's a splendid one always for fun."

TO LEAD THE BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA. Boston, Jan. 22 (Special).—The first announcement that Herr Nikisch, of Leipsic, Saxony, was the proposed successor to Mr. Gericke as conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra was made in "The Journal" of this city and The New-York Tribune exclusively several days ago. The contract has now been signed by Herr Nikisch and forwarded to Boston. By this contract he arranges for a term of three seasons here, beginning next October. As was said in the former announcement, Herr Nikisch is now conductor of the Gewandhaus concerts in Leipsic and has served for Gewandhaus concers in Leipsic and has served in some time as first conductor of the Stadt Theatre. He is about forty-five years of age, short and slight in figure, and though some time ago obliged by ill health to pass a few years in Italy, is now in good health. His memory is said to be wonderful, allowing him to conduct the Wagner operas without a single reference to the score, and he is held in high regard as a leader. Herr Nikisch is married.

Many desirable things, including board and rooms and household and other help, are advertised on the fourth and fifth pages of The Tribune to-day.

A great deal of fossil history is scaled up in genuine old aliver. Here is an example of it, dating back to the first third of the eighteenth century, guaranteed by the only test which indispetably proves the quality and date of sterling silver, the English "half mark." This is a two-handled "loving cop," which at feasts was grasped by its two handles and wes a passed, literally, from hand to hand and mouth to menth around the circle of the "goodlie companie." This cup is of the year 1727. Here is a tankard dating 1723. Another fine old English piece in marked contrast to the plainness of the rest is a highly ornamented tankard-a modern work in reproduction. Its body is a solid piece of ivery covered with intricate carvings of war scenes; the top and base are silver, and the cover is crowned with an ivery warrior. These are casual samples from a varied collection which can be seen at the famous old store of Sypher & Co. (once known as Marley'e), at Broadway and Sevens teenth-street. And not allyer only, but shiques and moderns in art furniture, tapestries, paintings, statury, and curios—an ever-changing stock—at a wide range of prices.
